Annual Message to the College Community

by Sister Karen Kennelly

Founders Day last fall was planned to celebrate the successful completion of the Sister Magdalen Coughlin Endowed Scholarship campaign, as well as to honor alumnae for their extraordinary achievements. Thanks to the College's many friends, our scholarship endowment now totals more than $12 million.

At the Founders Day luncheon, alumnae board Chair Alicia Andujo recognized some of the students now receiving scholarship aid; as they stood to be recognized—surrounded by Mount grads from 1929 to 1992—they provided a stirring reminder that past and present at MSMC are united by a shared vision of the future.

Mount St. Mary's has been working especially hard over the last decade to come to grips with what it means to educate and cultivate leadership in a diverse student body. Our philosophy of helping each student reach her potential led to establishment of the Alternative Access program at the Doheny campus in the early '80s. Our conviction that our programs and faculty needed to be more sensitive to diversity if we were to educate the contemporary student for the contemporary world led to major faculty development and curriculum changes beginning in 1986. Many of you have seen the monograph series we began publishing last year to share some of our discoveries about multicultural education. The title of the series, "Celebrating Cultural Diversity," sets the tone. Diversity has proved to be a remarkable catalyst for learning here at Mount St. Mary's; we recognize it as something to be celebrated.

These publications, along with the accomplishments of alumnae and many other qualities that bring the College to people's attention from day to day, have moved the College's light from under the proverbial bushel basket to a lamp stand. We continue to appear in the U.S. News and World Report ranking of the top ten regional liberal arts colleges, and are moving up: from sixth last year to second place in the 1993 rankings. The fall enrollment surged by a whopping 20 percent to an all-time high of 1491. New programs, designed to meet the needs of today's students, are fully enrolled and showing promise of rapid growth. The Associate Degree in Nursing Program, with more than 50 enrolled, brings on a second class of that number this spring. Weekend College opened in September with over 90 students, and will very possibly double that number in the second semester. We know from our new student comments that the Mount St. Mary's reputation for offering a quality education was a key factor in attracting new students to both programs.

Our students provide solid evidence of the fine reputation of Mount St. Mary's College, and our alumnae provide the proof. The women profiled in this issue vividly express the College's highest ideals in their lives. We celebrate them and rejoice in the unique gifts each brings to her life and work. The College is proud of you, and you can be proud of your College!

Frances Miyake Chikahisa '50

M.S.W., L.C.S.W.
Psychotherapist

"Mount St. Mary's College gave me a well-rounded, personal education and helped me develop a commitment to serving the community."

When Frances Miyake Chikahisa entered UCLA in 1946, she had only recently been released from a Japanese-American internment camp. She found herself in an impersonal environment, crowded with GIs who were returning to college.

"I wanted an education based in philosophy and religion, and soon realized I needed to make a change. At that time, I decided to convert to Catholicism and Mount St. Mary's College offered me a scholarship, which allowed me to transfer. This was the turning point in my life."

Chikahisa knew early on that her work would be dedicated to helping families. "Dr. Mary Stanton, an instructor in MSMC's social welfare department, encouraged me to continue toward a master's degree. She was my guiding light."

After earning her Master's in Social Work degree at USC in 1956, Chikahisa worked for several years for Catholic Social Services and other Catholic agencies before starting her family.

Today, she is a psychotherapist in Rolling Hills Estates, Calif., where her practice focuses on solidifying family relationships. She has been honored for her work as a volunteer facilitator for parents of abused children.

Barbara Ledesma Brown '64

Executive Assistant to Orange County Supervisor Roger R. Stanton

"I came from a cultural perspective which did not view women as having roles of leadership and independence. I needed the support of seeing other women around me who were meeting challenges, women with great goals."

In April 1980, she was the first woman elected to the Fountain Valley City Council; in June 1987, she became the first woman mayor of that city; and in April 1992, the Orange County Hispanic Chamber of Commerce elected its first woman president: Barbara Brown.

"The background in philosophy and ethics I received at MSMC has really helped me. Whether making policy decisions or personal decisions, you need a foundation of core beliefs. That's your rock, and from there you can do anything."

After earning a B.S. degree in microbiology, Brown became involved in community issues and active in local government, serving on the city planning commission before making her first run for city council. In 1984, she received a master's degree in public administration from California State University, Long Beach.

"In this community, 95% of our high school students are Hispanic and 50% are dropouts. That's our biggest challenge, to do something about that unconscionable statistic.

"I try to tell young people today to recognize the value of the family and a supportive environment you can always go back to for strength. The Mount became a second family to me."

Mary Arneson Odell '68

President, Riordan Foundation

"My compelling interest is the education of young children, building on their strengths to get them started early on the path to success."

As president of the Riordan Foundation, Mary Odell works to support projects that enhance literacy skills in children and job skills in older students. Much of the Foundation's work is channeled through its computer-assisted reading labs — hundreds across the country which serve more than 100,000 children every year. A computer program called "Writing to Read" helps children build their verbal skills by teaching them how to write what they say, and then read what they write.

Odell taught for several years after earning her degree in English from MSMC, and did post-graduate work in language and speech acquisition. Her son Patrick, now 20 and a sophomore history major at Loyola Marymount University, was born with a hearing impairment. Odell and her husband researched teaching methods and theories so that they could help him learn to speak. "He's been speaking normally ever since kindergarten," Odell says. Her daughter, Kelly, 22, is planning a career as an elementary school teacher.

"Young children want to learn so much — the challenge is to keep that love of learning alive. I knew I was in the right place when I came to Mount St. Mary's, because the College has always had an excellent reputation for preparing teachers."

Barbara Williams Johnson '55

Public Health District Nursing Director Northeast Health Center
Los Angeles County Department of Health Services

"Mount St. Mary's gave me the preparation and confidence to seek a higher degree and leadership positions in nursing."

Barbara Williams Johnson is the nursing administrator for 40 nursing staff who deliver services for more than 82,000 patient visits per year in the public health setting. Throughout her 37-year career she has also worked as a nurse at a junior college, as an occupational nurse with Mattel toys, and as an instructor with the Los Angeles Unified School District.

"I devote much of my time to the Council of Black Nurses, an organization I founded in 1968 with Dr. Betty Williams and 10 other nursing leaders," Johnson says. The current association of more than 7000 members addresses the need to recruit and retain minority nurses; promote their professional advancement; position them in policy-making and leadership jobs in key agencies; and improve health care in the Black community.

Concern with the needs in her community has led Johnson to serve as president of the View Park Library (twice!); secretary of the Black Health Leadership Council; and for the last 12 years, planner and participant in the annual statewide Black Health Conference.

"The liberal arts education at MSMC helped me view things holistically in all areas of my life. That has made me more effective as a wife, mother, working professional, and volunteer."

Sister Mary McKay, CSJ '68

Assistant Professor of Religious Studies
Mount St. Mary's College

"It was central to that time, the desire to do something for others."

Sister Mary McKay describes herself as a child of the Kennedy era. The infectious idealism of the '60s influenced her to lead a life dedicated to service, both in the Church and in the classroom. She obtained her bachelor's degree in English at the Mount, a master's in 1977 from Duquesne University, and subsequently spent several years as an elementary school teacher. Since earning her Ph.D. in theology from the University of Notre Dame last spring, she has returned to MSMC as an assistant professor of religious studies.

McKay graduated from Alemany High School in Mission Hills and entered religious life in 1963. As a student, she had known many CSJs and admired their strong tradition of teaching; that's one reason she chose to become a Sister of St. Joseph of Carondelet.

Nearly three decades after she was enrolled as an undergraduate, McKay now finds herself in the midst of a new generation of MSMC students. "The biggest contrast between then and now is the diversity — the differences in age, ethnicity — just the number of countries these women come from is amazing!"

McKay enjoys the challenge of diversity in the classroom. "I spend more time and effort preparing for class to make sure that my lectures offer a variety of examples applicable to diverse cultures. I also encourage discussion so that my students can express themselves as individuals."

"My clients are in Chinatown, Little Tokyo, Koreatown, Highland Park... it's great to be exposed to the rich diversity of these communities on a daily basis."

Adapting to cultural differences is nothing new for Leslie Cunningham, who spent most of her teenage years abroad, in West Germany, before entering Mount St. Mary's and earning her B.A. in social science. She is fluent in German and Spanish, and can hold her own in Japanese as well.

In her present position, she shares information about new products with physicians in a variety of health care settings. Cunningham says that having been educated at a women's college has proven to be a tremendous asset. "You learn to assert yourself; you know you can compete, toe-to-toe with men. That's something you take with you throughout life."

Cunningham completed a prestigious Coro Foundation fellowship in public affairs last June. The Coro fellows study a particular neighborhood — in Cunningham's case, it was the Vietnamese district in Westminster, Calif. — analyzing the political, social, economic and spiritual elements that make up that community. Coro fellows subsequently work for a month at a time with leaders in politics, media, labor, business, and community affairs. Cunningham's father, former City Councilman David Cunningham, is also an alum of the Coro program. "We were the first parent-child duo!"

She hopes to be posted in another country in the not-too-distant future, where she can put her language skills to work in international marketing.

Dr. Marta Sánchez '66

Associate Professor, Department of Literature
University of California, San Diego

"I have very positive feelings about women's colleges. I really responded to the special care and attention I received at MSMC."

For Marta Sánchez, beginning her college career as part of the inaugural class at the Doheny campus was a natural choice. Living with her family in East Los Angeles, MSMC became an extension of home. Making the transition to Chalon meant a long commute.

"I was a glutton for punishment," Sánchez says. "I would get up at 5:00 a.m. for an 8:00 a.m. class, and I'd study on the bus."

An English major who flourished under the guidance of Mount legends like Sister Laurentia Digges, Sánchez earned a master's degree in 1968 from John Carroll University and a doctorate in comparative literature from UCSD in 1977. She has published dozens of essays on the interplay of culture, gender, and family in writings by Latin American and Mexican-American authors, and is the author of Contemporary Chicana Poetry: A Critical Approach to an Emerging Literature (University of California Press, 1985).

"I looked at a very diverse group of women writers with commonalities of culture and history. It became clear to me how problematic it is to try and label ourselves with a term that everyone in the group can accept. A name means something different to everybody."

Monica Spillane Luechtefeld '71

Corporate Vice President
Eastman, Inc.

"My college education broadened my personal horizons; I learned that what I could imagine myself to be, I could become."

She graduated as a biology major in 1971, and in the late '70s became involved in business. As a corporate vice-president, Monica Spillane Luechtefeld works in the sales division for Eastman, an office furniture manufacturing company.

"Mount St. Mary's knows how to build on students' skills, developing in them a deep sense of self-worth. You feel that any goal or dream is attainable."

Luechtefeld is an active alumna and enjoys maintaining contact with the College's "sense of tradition." She feels that giving back to MSMC is part of that tradition. From 1975 to 1980 Luechtefeld served on the Alumnae Board, and is now a valued member of both the Mount Associates and the Regents Council.

"Mount St. Mary's College provides a nurturing yet challenging environment that develops women leaders."

'55 As of June 1993, Kay Kemp will be a retired woman, the first time that she won't be getting up to go to school since September 1938. For the second consecutive year she has been nominated by one of her former honor students to be included in Who's Who Among America's Teachers.

'55 Mary Ellen Breen Rowe teaches third grade in Long Beach, CA on the year-round schedule and loves it!

'55 Joan Gocke O'Brien has been installed for another term as the 1992-93 President of the Ladies of Charity for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

'56 Joanne Dozier Best continues to win tennis tournaments in Del Mar, CA and is currently active in the Re-Membering rite in the Catholic Church.

'56 A former member of the Alaska State Legislature, Thelma Garcia Buchholdt has completed her law degree and resumed an active role in politics.

'57 Alice Osti Carriere is thankful to God and modern medicine for her husband's remission from Hodgkin's Disease. In celebration, they purchased a vacation home in Las Vegas, NV and took a trip around the USA.

'57 As a liaison with the Catholic Diocese, Patricia Redmond Ziglinski is responsible for the continuation of the traditional Latin Mass celebrated each Sunday at her church in Kansas City, MO. She also home schools her oldest granddaughter and works a night time job. She is blessed and busy with 20 grandchildren.

'58 In addition to teaching English as second language classes at Learning Tree University in Chatsworth, CA, Mary Alice Salter Ambrose is co-editing an upcoming newsletter for St. Bernardine's in Woodland Hills.

'58 Currently in southern Spain, Patricia Yaeger Schaub and her husband continue to sail the Mediterranean, living full time on their boat.

Barbara Studer Callins '58

'58 Barbara Studer Collins has been honored for her significant devotion and service to the nursing profession and community by the Central Coast Nursing Cooperative Council. In addition to her clinical experience, she worked as a hospital Director of Nurses. She continues to serve on the Advisory Board of Cuesta College-Nursing Division and on the Board of Directors for Easter Seals. Barbara was appointed to a Blue Ribbon Committee by the Board of Supervisors in San Luis Obispo County to review problems related to access to health care. Both she and her husband are retired and live in Arroyo Grande.

'59 Rosalie Meggiolaro O'Grady took a cruise around four of the Hawaiian Islands last year.

'59 While visiting California, Mary Lou Hogan Dunsford visited MSMC and hosted a nostalgic reunion with '60 Rosemary Byrnes Hegenbart and '59 Patricia Concepcion in Oceanside. Back home in North Carolina, she serves in the GED program on the Board of Directors for Scotland County Literacy Council, is a member of the Chamber of Commerce's ad hoc Literacy Committee, and sings in the church choir.

'60 After celebrating her 29th wedding anniversary, Judy Scherb Skraba looks forward to an early retirement, doing community work and traveling. As a last assignment, she helped establish a school for pregnant teens in Walnut, CA.

'66 After 11 years working part-time, Margaret Weber Susank has become the full-time lab supervisor at Moore White Medical Group in L.A.

'66 Linda Ercole-Musso was one of nine women artists from the Northern Hemisphere whose works were included in an exhibition in Monterrico, Peru: The Child Within. Linda's work included snazzy Los Angeles-inspired collages and photos reflecting childhood memories.

'66 A three-month traveling nurse contract in Hawaii evolved into a year-long work stay for Judith Tarbet, who continued on at St. Francis Hospice as a home care nurse. She is now in the process of moving back to the mainland.

'67 After 22 years, Karen Fraser Schoeni still enjoys her job as the System Administrator for the Documentation group for JPL in Pasadena.

Soon all of our alumnae with current addresses will be receiving an Alumnae Directory Questionnaire in the mail. This is being sent to give every alumna the opportunity to be listed accurately in our new Mount St. Mary's College Alumnae Directory.

It is important to complete and return the questionnaire as soon as possible so that our publishers, Harris Publishing Co., Inc. can begin production on this state-of-the-art directory. Watch for your questionnaire, complete it accurately and return it promptly. See you in print!

'67 Mary Pendergest Monville acts as a minister of communion for her parish. Her favorite leisure activities are reading, swimming and hiking.

'69 Adele Zarate Skibba traveled to Spain this summer to visit the family who hosted her daughter last year in the summer AFS program. Upon returning from Spain, she resumed her 11th year as a first grade CCD teacher, her second year as AFS President, and serving as a lector and Eucharistic minister at Holy Angeles Church in Arcadia, CA.

'69 Working in her third year of job sharing a bilingual first grade class for LAUSD gives Joan Kociencki Slemmons an opportunity to have a career and still be a full-time mom.

'69 Martha Jesseman Long keeps very busy raising her family of four boys.

'71 After attending the 20th reunion of the class of 1971 last October, Ramona Vance Haywood visited the boutique at the House of Studies and enjoyed reminiscing with Sister Joseph Adele. After 15 years of attending an Episcopal Church, she has now joined St. Frances Catholic Church in Vista, CA. She enjoys being a homemaker.

'75 Alice Gardello started a new position as a categorical program advisor at Dayton Heights Elementary School in the LAUSD.

'77 A Risk Management Coordinator at Letterman U.S. Army Hospital at the Presidio of San Francisco, Lt. Col. Sandra Goss Peterson teaches legal aspects of nursing.

'80 Believing that education should be the concern of all people, Gloria Stoner Lurie is in her fifth year of teaching a program for older adults in Huntington Beach, CA.

'81 Robert Feller enjoys his job as a bilingual fourth and fifth grade teacher in Sacramento; however, he would like to relocate to Southern California to be closer to his family.

'83 Rosadel Robison McClure writes that with all of her six children over the age of 20, she is now a part-time substitute teacher at Chaminade College Preparatory School in West Hills, CA.

In the glorious early days of Los Angeles, the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel was the epitome of the excitement, glamour, and elegance of Hollywood. Prior to reopening in 1986, the hotel spent $35 million to meticulously restore its original blend of Spanish Colonial and Art Deco splendor.

The Alumnae Benefit Committee has chosen this hotel to be the site of the 31st Annual Alumnae Scholarship Luncheon and Benefit Silent Auction on Saturday, April 24, 1993. The luncheon will be held in the famous Blossom Ballroom, where the first Academy Awards were presented in 1927.

In keeping with the glitz and glamour of yesteryear, there will be a unique presentation of men's and women's fashions ranging from the crinolines and bustles of the 1800s to the bright and energetic styles of the 1960s. All the fashions are from an archival collection and will be presented by Goodwill Industries.

Members of the Benefit Committee who will be hard at work these next few months preparing for this special event are: Gina Poli Hsiung, chair; Patricia Dominguez Ellis, Claudia Ruiz, Gail Flood, Claire Davis, Marie Treacy Mastandrea, Susan Konzal, Maria Molina Fazio, and Olivia Vela.

'88 Jaime Reiter Collins is employed part-time in the operating room at UCLA, allowing her to spend more time with her little daughter.

'90 Amy Lizabeth Kuhnert has completed her second year of law school at the University of San Diego and hopes to graduate in May 1993. Last summer she was employed as a law clerk for the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office.

'91 Danielle Fischer is attending the University of Washington and working towards her master's degree in social work, specializing in family preservation.

'92 Karla Marroquin is working on a research project involving nonheritable variation in the heat shock response of escherichia Coli at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, MA.

We Think You're One of Our FANS!

The Friends and Alumnae Network System (FANS) involves friends and alumnae of Mount St. Mary's College in helping students gain experience and advice on careers. These volunteers are available to students by appointment to answer questions or to share their own career experiences.

After three successful years, the Career Planning Center seeks to expand this program and update its list of volunteers. You are invited to join "FANS" or, if you have volunteered in the past, to update your records.

Please complete and return the form, or refer it to a friend or colleague who may be interested. You may call Mari Wadsworth (310) 471-9532 for more information.

Planned Giving Is Growing

Mount St. Mary's COLLEGE

HERITAGE

Last fall those of you who we knew had remembered us in some form of planned giving numbered fewer than thirty; through recent contacts and mailings we now know that there are many more of you who have made such a commitment to the Mount. Your love and generosity help the College preserve the educational environment for which it is noted. Our latest accreditation by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges compliments us on the fact that: "Mount St. Mary's College has an enviable reputation in honoring and emphasizing respect for each individual. Indeed, it may be said with confidence that every resource of this institution is dedicated more to the service of the individual student than to the institution's self-preservation."

Hopefully, still others of you will let us know if the Mount has been named a beneficiary of your financial planning. We, in turn, want to recognize you through our HERITAGE SOCIETY. Our charter members, as well as all our Golden Grads, are invited to a special program on Sunday, March 14, 1993.

Several alum attorneys have volunteered their services to assist the College in legal aspects of planned giving. Currently, Mary Creutz '53, Jane Luecke Johnson '64, and Angela Hawekotte Quinn '75 have offered to be advisors to MSMC. Their first meeting was held at Mary's home in October. Mary, Angela and Jane—all graduates of Loyola Law School—will also assist your advisors if you would like them to do so.

In addition to the attorneys, a committee of persons knowledgeable in wills, trusts, insurance, real estate, and other assets will help to insure a solidly established program. Michael Enright, a partner of Arthur Andersen & Company, an MSMC trustee, and the husband of Carol Clem '64, will serve as chairman of this committee. Their first meeting was held in January at the Doheny campus.

We are grateful to each of you for your dedication to the Mount. You are making it possible for the "heritage" of our mission and values to continue as a vital force in our society.
